Iceland Postal Rates 1870 – 2009 publication.

The printed book sold out last year, and a decision may be taken by the Scandinavia Philatelic Society in UK who own the copyright, on what steps, if any, might be taken, to satisfy future requests for the book. An option might be to make it available in digital form. In the meantime, it is necessary to keep the current book up to date when new information comes to hand. Recently, thanks to Vilhjálmur Sigurðsson at Íslandspóstur, the Postal Rates books for the years 1924, 1926 and 1930 have been made available to me. Also much additional data was obtained from Póst-og Símatiðindi from 1936 to 1950s, particularly on C.O.D and Postal Money Order rates for the middle period, which is most welcome given the difficulties previously experienced obtaining accurate information for those services. These require some new pages and other amendments to the book. Please let me know if you wish to receive the updates by email. Belatedly, I must apologize to anyone who has already received a new page 110 from me. There is an error in the headline date for Scandinavia All-In Rates. Please amend 30th September 1953 to read 30th April 1950.

Stop Press. My thanks to Vilhjálmur Sigurðsson of ÍslandsPóstur who advised me that the latest postal rate changes took effect from 12th January and not 1st January as I had announced (IPM Issue 2). The other surprise he gave me, is that there was a previous increase to the basic inland A and B letters which I did not know about, which took effect from 1st October 2015. I have made changes to the article on page 12 accordingly.

The identity of "The Man with the Suitcases" Issue 3 has been revealed by Johnny.P.

The man with the 2 suitcases is Mr. Leif Jaråker the former editor for the Facit catalogues and he loves Iceland and also old aircraft that is a hobby he has so he was not so happy to take them both back to Sweden. Brian, if you look at the body on that man it cannot be Leif Nilsson! The best Johnny

(Leif, I thought it was not you. Ed)

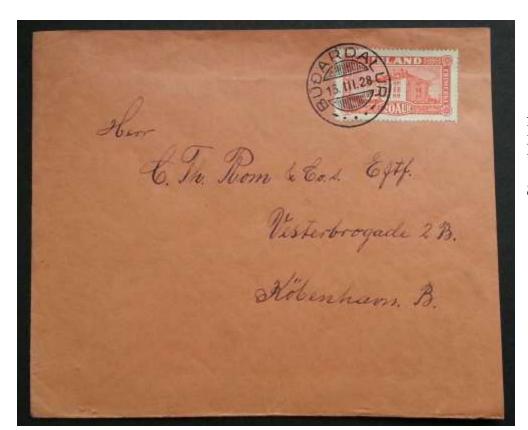

Wilbur Jonsson: - The 42aur franking on the numeral 167 cover shown in Issue 3 may not be as bad as had been stated. Provided the cover was posted before 1.10.1925 the rate to the UK was 40aur, and the use of 7 x 6aur stamps might be described as a reasonable attempt to cover the postage rate, albeit 2 aurar overpaid.

Ardrossan Henk Burgman

Herewith a scan of an Icelandic postcard. Sent from Reykjavík (12-VII-10) to Gand, Belgium (19-Juillet-1910). The card bears a transit cancel from Ardrossan (JY-18-10). Maybe worthwhile to ask your readers if they have seen a similar cancel before? Greetings Henk

Late use numeral cancels (Part 2) Brian Stwalley

I'm including another group of late use numerals which I came across. It should be noted I'm not including items which are clearly CTO (have gum). That's a separate discussion for a later time if you want me to bring those forward. (Yes, please (Ed.) these all seem to be cases where the office was still open and both bridge and numeral cancels available for use. It would be interesting to know readers' opinions about these examples.

Misspelling in REYK(J)AVIK Ole Svinth

If you take a closer look at your machine cancels you might find misspelling and or letters/numbers upside down.

Another question is how did this error occur? The cancel is made up by insertion of each letter and the handler just forgot the letter "j". It is not known how many days went past before the error was detected.

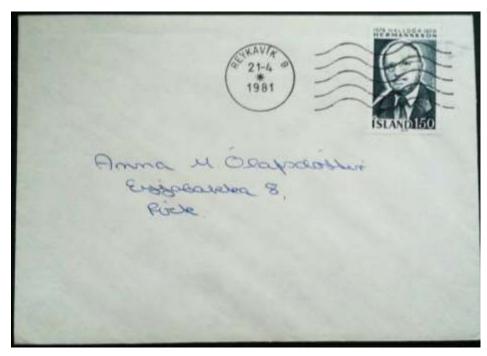

Letter to Belgium cancelled Reykavik "9" 12 5 1981. Letter rate was 220 aur 0-20 gr. "J" missing in postmark.

Going through my drawers I found this cover also showing the error. Year and date have in the meantime changed position. Error period at least 4 month.

Printed matter to Belgium cancelled Reykavik "9" 10 9 1981. Printed matter rate 0-20 gr. was 200 aur. "J" missing in postmark. Was it pure luck? I met this cover on eBay. Now the period of use is extended from April 21st 1981 until September 10th 1981.

Local printed matter in Reykjavik cancelled 21 4 1981. P.M. rate was 150 0-20 gr.

Inverted year Ole Svinth

Here is an example of inverted year. Has it been inverted since January 1^{st} 1956-I have my doubts.

Local printed matter cancelled Reykjavik 21 X 1956. P.M. rate was 60 aur 0-50 gr. from April 1st 1956 until March 31st 1957.

A Study of crown cancels and their routes Ronald Collin

In the hopes of further studying Iceland's Crown and Posthorn cancels and covers, I am including scans of three and one-half covers from my collection. The thought was to show the routings taken by the covers to get to their destinations, after having their Crown and Posthorn cancel applied to the cover. Perhaps others will add some of their covers to the mix in future issues of this Newsletter.

The first example is a cover from Hjalteyri to Germany. It is rather heavily franked with 100aur, with no outward indication for such franking. It bears 4 strikes of the HJALTEYRI C&P canceler. In addition, there are four strikes of the Numeral cancel #66, this canceler having also been issued to Hjalteyri. All of the stamps franking this cover are from the 1907 Two Kings issue. I count the perforation tips on the vertical side of each stamp. There are 15 tips, which tell me these are perf 12 3/4, which confirms the 1907 issue. There is an indistinct marking on the reverse, which could be either a transit mark or a receiving mark. I am unsure as to why both types of cancelers were applied to this cover.

The second cover is from Borgarnes. It bears a bold strike of the BORGARNES C&P canceler. The routing was rather straight forward to Reykjavik, with a receiving mark applied on the 21st of May, 1903.

The third cover is from Holtastadir to the city of Ballard, in the state of Washington, U.S. Travel time for this cover appears to be about 34 days. It received a transit cancel from Blonduós on February 1st, a transit cancel from Reykjavik on February 9th (8 days transit to Reykjavik).

The sender endorsed the cover "Via Leith". A transit mark from Edinburgh was applied on February 16th. A New York-Paid All transit mark was applied on March 1st, 1903, and a Ballard, Washington receiving mark was applied on March 6th.

My half cover is an example of the REYKIR strike of its C&P canceler. The only routing we can see is that it transited Hraungerði on July 18th and Reykjavik July 22nd, 1905. From the rather rough opening on the left, I am unsure why a previous owner of this item would have severed the cover front. Yes, an important piece of postal history remains, but it would be nice for this cover to have remained intact.

I am hoping that others who are reading this newsletter, will entertain the thought of also sending this Magazine, a few scans of their Crown and Posthorn covers (front and back), so that we can learn from the routes taken by these covers. This Newsletter can be the vehicle for building a census of these covers. This Newsletter would be the repository of the data concerning Crown and Posthorn covers that exist today, thanks to the thoughtfulness of collectors, like those reading this Magazine. Any questions or comments about what has been seen here should be sent to the Editor, to possibly be included in a future issue of this Magazine, for the benefit of its readers.

Kópavogur B8e dated 17.IX.1958.

Why is this significant? Well, because Kópavogur, which at that time was still a bréfhirðing, did not get the B8e cancel until 16.2.1959 according to Þór Þorsteins Íslenskir Stimplar 2003.

Start looking at those B8e cancels from Kópavogur and let us know if you can find an earlier date.

Modern letter rates

The recent increase in inland postal rates reawakened my resentment at being forced to concede victory to the nvi stamp introduced a few years ago. There is no more pleasure to be had searching modern covers to look for letters with a postal rate. I began to wonder if I or others missed chances to use a single stamp on an inland letter during the past few years? The problem really started after 1st June 2011 when the inland rate changed from 75kr to 90kr. Since then we have had inland rates for basic 'A' letters of 97kr, 120kr, 130kr, 145kr, 153kr, 159kr and now 170kr. How many single valid stamps have existed which could have been used for any of these rates? The answer is the 90kr, 120kr and the 130kr. Please correct me if I am wrong, but no other valid single issues exist for the other rates.

The 90kr rate (1.6.2011 - 30.9.2011) was not too difficult with 2010 Biodiversity miniature sheet, 2010 Gardens, 2009 Civil Aviation, 2009 Malmey Island and the 2008 First Cod War.

The 97kr rate (1.10.2011 -30.6.2012) unsurprisingly has no stamp of that value, but there were ways of getting around the problem.

This was achieved for a short time by using a remaining FRAMA machine still in operational order at the post office at R1 Pósthússtræti 5. Using this machine, labels were produced and applied to letters along with postage stamps for the amounts required to make up the 97kr rate. Apparently there were only a few unused rolls left to be used so the use of this must have been limited. Here is one example with a 95kr stamp and a 2kr label cancelled.

120kr rate valid 1.7.2012 to 31.12.2013. There were 5 issues which could have been used: 20.09.07 Berries, 2008 Snæfellnes min.sheet, 9.10.08 Peace Tower, 16.9.09 Skaftafell pair, and 5.11.09 Christmas.

130kr rate valid for 7 months from 1.1.2014 to 31.7.2014. There were 4 issues which could have been used: 21.9.06 Berries, 2009 Polar Min. sheet, 6.5.10 Gardens, 2010 Iceland Pavilion min.sheet.

145kr, 153kr, 159kr and the 170kr (current) rates have no available stamp issues with those values. I would encourage Icelandic readers to rush out and post letters to each other before the rate is changed again. It is too late for the 153kr and 159kr rates, the last surely a rarity if anyone managed to create covers. Where does that leave us? There ought to be a few of the 90kr covers around, 120kr and 130kr will be harder but not impossible to find.

Nice Edinburgh on Chr. X Ole Svinth

This nice postmark was offered at a net sale. It is an early use for this stamp, which was issued 23 II 20. Chr IX, doubleheads and silhouette stamps were still valid until the end of 1921.

Price was 20$. Was the price too high in your opinion?

I have of course several different Edinburgh postmarks, so why would I buy this stamp?

I shall release the answer in next issue.

Reply to An odd airmail rate designed for only a small group of countries (IPM Issue 1),

Mike Schumacher

Ole Svinth asks what happened to all those stamps in relation to the 2kr30 stamp. Well, Mike Schumacher shows that plenty of them probably ended up on first day covers as can be seen here with two examples used in pairs. Mike has 6 others to various US destinations.

The Chicago one looks as if it may have toured the city before finding its way home. The cachet reads "MISSENT TO HYDE PARK STATION"

Pór Porsteins says this cancel is known from 1919

It was introduced in 1911. Are any earlier examples known before 1919? Seen on Scanfil

Manuscripts

Is this Presthólar or?

I apologise for this image but in the circumstances it is presently the best I can do. Browsing through some old notes from 1999 I found a discussion concerning a 10aur red stamp with what appeared to be a faint manuscript cancel. Using digital technology the owner managed to obliterate the stamp under the cancel and produced the adjacent image. Subsequently, Hans von Strokirch, an expert in this field, pronounced it could only be a previously unknown Presthólar.

Sure enough in POSTHORN of August 2000, Hans included Presthólar in his table of manuscript cancels. What became of this 10 aurar stamp I do not know? Does anyone know of another example of this manuscript cancel?

It is not very often you see a manuscript cancel with a full date, in this case 26/7-'89.

A Posting in Iceland during WW2

Life in the R.A.F in Iceland during WW2 must have had its lighter moments. It reasonable to say this is the work of a stamp When this collector! item was consigned to the post on 19th September 1942. no invalid stamps were used. which required some knowledge. I am happy to be corrected but calculate I the franking as 28kr46 which would have paid for a c.22-23kg package the rates which applied until 31.12.1942. may have It originally addressed to R.A.F Hornchurch, Essex, or an old envelope was reused and the previous address crossed out. I think Fl. Lt. Parnall probably collected used Iceland and this was a good way to fill some gaps.

Poststempler på Greiðslumerki Jørgen Steen Larsen

In IPM # 2 is at page 11 mentioned about Numeral N1a 65 on Greiðslumerki, as follows "looks as if the numeral is applied in order to increase the value, and not as an official consequence of the use of this tax stamp".

I have these 23 copies of Bridge type postmarks used for cancelling Greiðslumerki.

None of these have additional ink marking.

Furthermore I have seen N1a 65 and N2 258 used for cancellation of Greiðslumerki.

It looks as if it is normal use of the postmarks.

There are still questions to be asked,

Normally Greiðslumerki is cancelled either with ink or a postmark. Why do we find cancellations with both ink and postmark? Cancellation with postmark only comes from the fee on money orders. The ink cancellation comes from the use on bills. Therefore I think it is suspicious to have both on one "stamp".

Comment to B Stwalley's article in ICELAND PHILATELIC MAGAZINE Issue 3, page 6, about late use of Numeral Cancels. Jørgen Steen Larsen

It is good to read, that the big revision, which has occurred in the numeral postmark area in Facit Special Classic 2016 has been useful to other collectors.

One of the tasks on the revision was to find re-use of the numerals after 1930 in at least 3 copies used commercially. In order to try to fulfill the mission, it was necessary to exclude a rather large number of philatelic re-use.

In B Stwalley's article are shown 4 examples of - in my opinion – philatelic re-use.

Numeral	Comment
N1a-72	An upright well centered postmark. From my experience one should be suspicious. I have an almost identical copy also on Facit 331.
N1a-76	This copy comes from a Folmer Østergaard letter with originally 5 copies of Facit 282.
	The letter has been divided.
N1a-164	Known used as shown on Facit 242C3. Also re-use on Facit 282,283,284,285,286,297 and 298, which all are issued in the period 1948-50.
	In Folmer Østergaard's collection was a letter with Facit 242(2) + 282(2). From this letter I have the pair with Facit 282. The use on Facit 242C3 might came from the same letter. All know copies are found with upright central postmarks. Only one or a few copies of each stamp.
N1c-203	Probably from a Folmer Østergaard letter franked with Facit 235 and 298(2).

We are now left with two possible commercial uses of N1a-31 on F 331 and N1a-163 on F 350.

To me N1a-31 is a big surprise as a re-use. I have never seen other copies of this postmark after 1930. I should like further comments on this.

N1a-163 was used at brjefhirðing Hafnir (also used at Kirkjuvogur, Kalmannstjörn, Hvammur) from 1 10 1945 – 31 12 1979. The re-use must be from Hafnir.

From Hafnir I have these examples of re-use,

Piece with Facit 151 dated 1.4.1945.

Facit 284(2) used 1950/51.

Facit 349(2) used 1958

Commercial cover with Facit 360 dated 1?2.59.

All copies are with blueish ink.

I think not to have seen other early use of B1a Hafnir from the brjefhirðing Hafnir.

All 6 cancels are in the postal archives.

Occupation Rules

Previously, according to an announcement from the UPU in Berne, the Occupation authorities in Germany had made provision for the exchange of mail with Germany in accordance with a set of rules which would satisfy the varied censorship and security situations in the different zones, as well as meeting the needs of ordinary Germans to normalise their relations with the outside world as far as postal communications were concerned. Incoming airmail from other countries intended for Germany was subject to new UPU regulations.

Reykjavík B1d dated 2.VII.47 to Koblenz in the French Occupation Zone. 22b was the postal district for the Rhineland. Postage was either 20gm flown to GB at 15aur per 5gm = 60aur (valid 1.4.46 to late 1949); or 10gm flown to a Nordic country at 30aur per 5gm = 60aur (valid 1.4.46 to 30.9.47). Plus 60aur surface rate.

Póst-og símatiðindi Nr.3-4. March-April comprehensively covered regulations for the handling of airmail destined for the Allied Occupation zones in Germany. The rules were strict and in the case of airmail the only permitted items were postcards and letters up to 20gm. Correspondence was allowed exclusively for personal private mail. All other types of correspondence were not allowed. The permitted postcard category must not include picture postcards or similar. Parcels were not forbidden. fuller description of the 1946 terms is described in an article in IslandsKontakt 88.

Reykjavík B1d 11.XII.46 to Lübeck in the British Zone 24 post district. Military and Civil Censorship. Routes and postage as for the previous cover.

The zonal division of Germany applied for nearly 3 years before the eventual establishment of the Federal Republic and the DDR, and as time passed it was inevitable that the arrangements for the handling of posts would change, and probably did sometime in late 1947. There were no further post office announcements until the beginning of 1948 in Póst-og símatiðindi Nr.1-3. 1948, which described a general relaxation of the regulations. The essential points are these:-

It is now possible to send letters up to 2kg, also postcards both ordinary and with paid reply. Picture postcards previously prohibited are now allowed, but "the photos may not show anything that could be considered to support fascism or to inspire a crowd and rebellion." Letters may contain private and family content but also information of a commercial nature. Some types of commercial mail were allowed and others forbidden.

◆ Picture postcard of Vestmannaeyjar permitted by the relaxation of the regulations. Despite the airmail label it probably went by surface mail, but was still 5aur underpaid for the 35aur UPU postcard rate. B5a Vestmannaeyjar dated 4.4.48.

Commercial letter with British Civil Censor 5630. Dated Reykjavík ?XI.47 to Köln. Flown to GB and then surface rate to the British Zone in Germany. 60aur surface rate plus airmail rate at 20aur per 5gm (20 x 2) = 40aur, total 1kr. Rates valid 1.10.47 to late 1949.

Has anyone ever seen a parcel card to Germany dated 1946 or 1947? It would be very interesting to see one both for the postal rate and any postal markings. Parcel rates to other countries were announced in 1946 and 1947 but Germany was not mentioned in either listing.

Duration of the validity of stamps Final Part by Ólafur Elíasson - translation from the original published in Frímerkjablaðið Nr.11/2004 edited and approved by the author.

This is the second and final part written by Ólafur Elíasson and covers the stamps of the Republic period as well as the earlier official stamps and all post cards.

The Republic plus the official stamps

In the last issue, the stamps of the Kingdom period were covered. I will now continue where it left off, and cover the Republic and the official stamps and postal cards.

According to an announcement by the Post and Telecommunications Administration all stamps which had been issued before 1 January 1973 (that is stamps up to Facit 507) were withdrawn from 1 July 1981. This revocation was directly related to currency exchange rate changes of the year 1980-81. After July 1, 1981 none of these stamps or miniature sheets was to be used for payment of postage. The post office has always understood that the official stamps, postcards and letter cards with a printed value, would be part of their relevant issue and were therefore withdrawn simultaneously with the stamps.

(Postscript) Ólafur pointed out that in Frímerkjablaðið Issue 13, Íslandspóstur made an announcement that all stamp issues from 1973 to 1982 inclusive were invalid for postage from October 1st 2006. Ed.)

Facit 5 and 7

This one is new to me. I believe that the cancel on the 3 Skilling is a fake. The impression is too clean and clear. The spacing between the letters is wider than the spacing between the letters on the stamp in the same lot.

What do you think? Have you seen an example of this cancel (?) before?

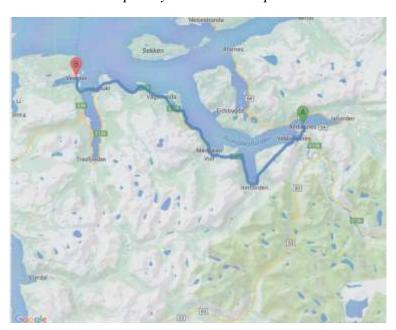

I'm getting older, and I wear tri-focal glasses, but this cancel just doesn't look good to me.

Skilling values on piece with non-Reykjavik postmark

Skanfil auctions Norway End bid was 3000 NK offered at Ebay as "buy it now" for 10.550 USD Not sold yet (end of January)

The most common postmark on the skilling issue is of course Reykjavik. After that come Akureyri, Egilsstaðir, Hjardarholt, Ísafjörður, Stykkisholmur and Sveinsstaðir. Slightly less common is here Bær with a + for being a pair.

This information taken from Facit must be based on observations through more than 100 years.

Modern BORGANES postmark

This modern Borgarnes type M8 m/c cancel was introduced in 1997. This example is dated 19.12.11 and after 14 years of use may have suffered some damage. The peculiar ink color adds to the strange appearance.

The days of wild inflation? C.O.D for 75,000kr.

It looks commercial so why 409kr?

A comment on Valpjofsstaður Jørgen Steen Larsen

In IPM # 2 page 9 is an article on the collecting place Valpjofsstaður.

C1 Valpjofsstaður was shown on a piece with 10 aur I GILDI after the cancel has been widened by use of paraffin or a similar solvent.

Horizontal diameter app. 27 mm and vertically 28½ mm. (should be checked on the original cut)

I have C1 in the original size showing a diameter of 24 mm on a cut with a pair of 5 aur two kings perf 14.

It tells us that the cancel was widened after 1914.

The nice cut shown by Brian Flack is therefore a CTO.

I have another copy of C1 on a 10 aur two kings perf. 14 with the widened postmark. Horizontal diameter is about 27 mm.

This stamp was issued 1916 and valid until end of 1921. I don't know if my cut is genuine or a CTO after 1921.

On a registered cover from February 1961 I have C1 used on the registration label. Diameter shows horizontal 27 mm and vertical 28½ mm.

Finally I have C1 on Facit 401 issued 17 9 1962 with a horizontal diameter of 28 mm

Brian's I GILDI piece and my 10 aur two kings might both be CTO from about 1961.

Cancel "Made in Germany"? Ole Svinth

Why do I suspect this postmark to be "made in Germany"? Collectors of German mail will know that the last V in the dating is short for "Vormittag". Maybe the cancel producer knew just a little on Scandinavian mail, alas but not enough. Danish postmarks had in an earlier period (until around 1930) an F (F = formiddag (=am)) or an E (E= eftermiddag (pm)) after time of day. We collectors of Iceland only need $\frac{1}{2}$ a second to spot this postmark to be a falsification. On the other hand a German collector of Iceland might accept the "V".

A better way to cancel falsely will be a handwritten ink cancellation. It is not possible to be 110% sure of such a fake. Until now we have not yet seen a handwritten cancelled Icelandic block, ever. If you feel tempted to look for a pen and ink, don't tell anybody it was I, who inspired you! All our readers are warned now.

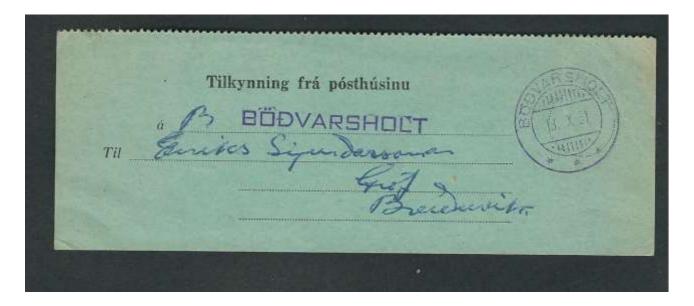

Another date challenge Pétur Eiríksson

I'm still looking for that early REYKJAVIK B1a, but instead I came across this one, a VERY early BÖĐVARSHOLT from 1951, which fits for pushing the limits. I am fond of this one. Besides the non-postal official use, there is the excellent strike, plus the seldom seen rubber stamp.

But the personal touch is that the addressee, Eiríkur Sigurðsson was my great-grandfather, and the Böðvarsholt postmaster was his friend. This fell out of one of my grandfather's books, sitting in a box since 1975, when he passed away. A humble family heirloom.

Best, Pétur

Nice one Pétur, Now can anyone go earlier than 13.10.51?

Reply to USA postmarks on Icelandic mail by Ole Svinth Brian Stwalley

In response to Ole Svinth's invitation for US postmarks on Icelandic mail, here is a fine example from Brian Stwalley.

Do any of our readers collect these FRAMA labels? Henk Burgman.

I just got some Scandinavian material in for our next auction. Most of this material are "philatelic inspired" items to give them a name. Nearly all of them are franked with FRAMA labels, including some Icelandic material. It made me wonder if there are collectors among our readers who do collect these on genuinely used Icelandic covers.

I show one funny cover as an illustration. Greetings, Henk
