SPECIAL # 10 – 2019 V3 – BYTH

Compiler: Jakob S. Arrevad: jsa@agadvokatfirma.dk

Blyth is at the river Blyth 15 miles north of Newcastle Upon-Tyne on the east coast of England. Just south of the Scottish/English border.

1. Robertson (E.19) mention a round ship letter cancel (E.18/B s.2) and show the proof from the dispatch-book entry 17th November 1880, but his remarks is "Use at present unrecorded".

2.

Robertson (s.1) indicate the use 1903 to 1913 but Hoskin (9D¹) and Mike Dovey² indicate: "The Two Line Cancel: SHIP LETTER / BLYTH NORTH HD - 2 line cancellation from 1903 and, although it was rarely used, it lasted until 1920"³. Shilling indicate a use from 1901 until 1933. Mike Tuttle indicate 1903 until 1926 with an addition, that a part of the cancel is known at 25 aur airmail stamp from 1934⁴.

The "ordinary recorded use" must be between 1903 and 1922 (perhaps 1926) – but there can be later use.

3. "NORTHUMPERLAND" (NH)

Without time but "letter" – in 1903 until 1. May 1903?

¹ 4th edition by Mike Dovey & Keith Morris(2010)1903-1922

4. Shilling include (B 74):

Seen used in 1906 on mail from Iceland – see below – but it is in fact a part of a rather common duplex postmark⁵.

5. Also seen as a separate postmark in 1906 and 1911 – with time

6. Twin circle with a fat arc and a cross (MK), indicated used from 1908 until 1922 (+?).

It is "a day" with many examples – and most of them are from the same campagne:

Two 1903 Ship Letter Blyth North D, from Reykjavik 13 April 1903 to "The Hauge". No text on the back.⁶

And the same type righter.

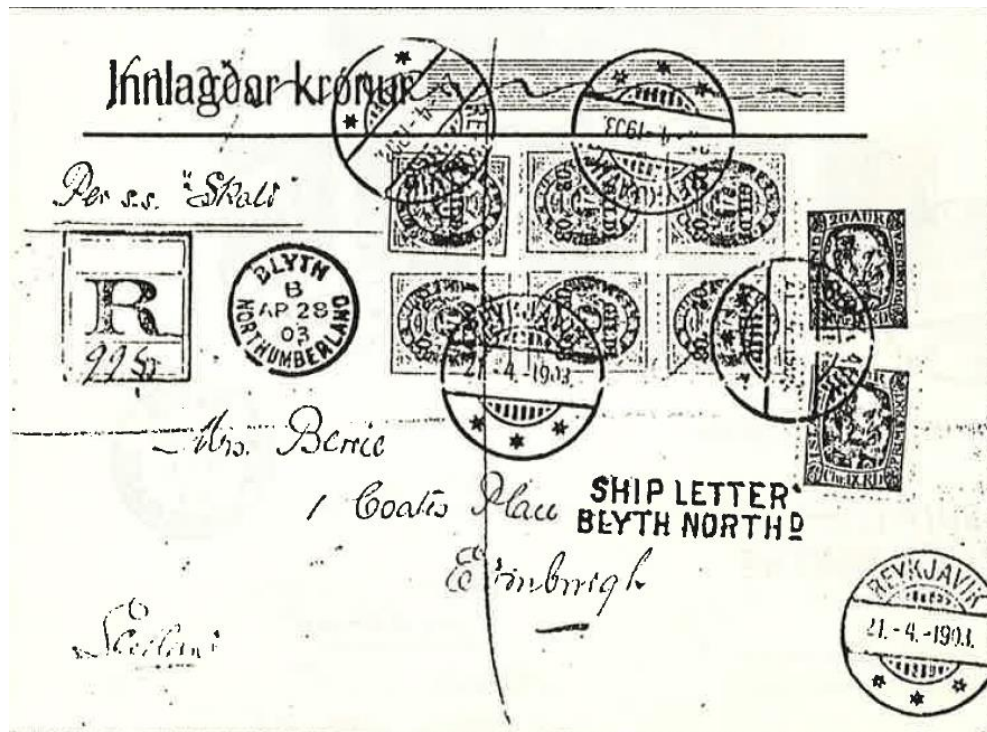

The next one is bad – but it is what I have:

⁶ The first one has been described as from 1908 – then the franking is insufficient – and it is 1903.

I cannot find any ship going from Iceland on 2 April or before the next ship "SKALD". SS SKALD came to Reykjavik 7 April: "Gufuskipið Skald kom hingað frá Englandi A fimtudag með timbur og kol til B. Guðmundssonar"⁷. The departure is not mentioned.

"Gufuskiðið Schweigaard (hvalabátur) kom frá Patreksfirði á sunnudaginn og fór aftur vestur í gær."⁸ It was a transport ship for a whale station – not a whaleboat itself.

9

⁸ "Steamship Schweigaard (whaleboat) came from Patreksfirði on Sunday and went back west yesterday."

⁹ Build 1883 – wreck on 5 November 1916.
